"My brother and sister, you have a sacred work to do in the training of your children. While they are young, their hearts and minds are most susceptible to right impressions....Teach them that they have an individual part to act and a Christian experience to gain even in their childhood. Unless parents shall make it the first business of their lives to guide their children's feet into the path of righteousness from their earliest years, the wrong path will be chosen before the right "

Child Guidance, 489.
